ONE of the most deplorable features of the recent 1903 Technique Electoral Committee election were the press notices as they appeared in three of the Boston daily papers — The Herald, The Journal and The Globe. The Class of 1903 has so far in its history made itself remarkable by a singular wrongheadedness and to see this misfortune capped and augmented by hot-headed and ill-balanced press reports is much to be regretted. The mere fact that Technique always has encountered serious difficulties, should be an incentive towards lessening rather than increasing, these difficulties. The attitude of the Boston dailies has been noticeable this year by its ill-nature towards student affairs at the Institute ; in the incident of the Cane Rush, in the partisan feeling started in the Senior Class Day elections, and most recently in the present case of the Technique Electoral Committee. The attitude has been characterized by an apparent desire for "news" and "notoriety," which has been the cause of misstatement and misconstruction. Such proceedings are surely not to be looked upon otherwise than with condemnation.

HE spirit evinced by the members of the 1903 Technique Electoral Committee in the first meeting of that body is certainly to be commended. Those members who entered upon their office lightly appear now to realize the responsibility of the duties which devolve upon them in the selection of the Technique Board. The vote, to the effect that the members of the committee becoming members of the Board cannot exceed six, and need not necessarily reach that number, shows an honest intention on the part of the committee to drop all animosities and rivalries and, with impartial judgment, to elect a truly representative Board. It is to be hoped that this praiseworthy spirit is sincere, and that each member will put aside private interests and choose such a Board — a Board comprised of men of some social standing among the students ; of good scholastic record ; of evident literary, artistic or business ability ; men who seek and will work for the best interests and success of the class.

HE attention of the Sophomores is directed to the specifications for the competition for the art editors of 1903 Technique Board printed in this issue. This competition is open to all members of the Class of '03, and as the artistic portion of Technique is one of its most attractive features it is essential that participation in this competition should be general and spirited. As it is for the best interest of 1903 Technique that the Board should be formed at the earliest possible date the competitive designs should be handed in promptly.

THE recent election of the 1903 Technique Electoral Committee has been the subject of varied comment and much adverse criticism; and justly so. Politics is at all times an evil, but it is nowhere so much out of place as in college elections. Preliminary caucuses and lobbying might well be dispensed with in the election contests at the Institute. The manipulation of reforms is always dangerous; and although the movement of this nature in the election under consideration, was well meaning in its start, it soon spread into a misguided attack on fraternities in general. It is also unfortunate that there should be anything questionable as regards the conduct of the election. It is unnecessary to dwell longer on the evils of the proceedings above enumerated, and to call upon the student body to disown a repetition of such deplorable practices. The results are sufficient argument; they speak for themselves.

It may be of interest to some of the students to know that the following newspapers are on file in the Political Economy Library: The Atlantic Constitution of Atlanta, Ga.; The Weekly News and Courier of Charleston, S. C.; and the Senior Weekly Times Democrat of New Orleans.

HE following article appeared in the issue of THE TECH for Feb. 21st:—

An appeal is being made throughout the country for aid in the maintenance of the American library at Manila. It was started a year ago for the benefit of our soldiers in the Philippines. Some of the colleges and universities have taken steps to collect books, especially text-books on Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Physiology and the other sciences. If the men at the Institute would collect such books for which they may have no further use it would be a great help to the library. All books, novels, history, magazines, as well as text-books are wanted. Those wishing to aid in this enterprise should leave books at the "Cage" marked — Tech Y. M. C. A. for the Manila library.

The French Play.

"The Romancers," an English version of Les Romanesques, which will be performed in the original French by L'Avenir during the second week in May in aid of the Walker Memorial Gymnasium Fund, was given in Brattle Hall by the Cambridge Dramatic Club last year, and met with such unrivalled success that it will again be produced in Copley Hall on April 17th and 18th. This shows that the play has been greatly appreciated and that L'Avenir can look forward to a most successful performance. The story of this most delightful comedy is in outline as follows: The time and place are "as you like it," according to the author, any where at any time, providing the setting is elegant. The hero, Percinet, and the heroine, Sylvette, have both a burning desire for romance and this precipitates all their troubles. Two old friends and neighbors, desirous of a marriage between their children, but convinced that these will not be attracted to each other if the circumstances are too conventionally propitious.

uous, pretend a fierce enmity. This seems to them similar to Romeo and Juliette and such a situation being too alluring in its suggestions, the young people promptly fall in love and Sylvette is rescued by her lover from an abduction planned by the plotting fathers. Thus the latter have an excuse for relenting; the betrothal is arranged and the parents rejoice, but alas, too soon, for the lovers discover that they have been duped and separate, Percinet to real adventures of his own contriving and Sylvette to thoughts of a more romantic adorer. Straforel, the original mock abductor and unwitting betrayer of the plot, contrives to give Sylvette a notion of true romance, but this is so little to her taste, that disillusioned she flies to Percinet, who comes back in a like temper, and the play ends in mutual understanding and congratulations.

'93 Class Dinner.

The class of '93 held its annual dinner and meeting at the Technology Club last Saturday evening. President Pritchett and Professor E. H. Barker of the Lowell Textile School were guests of the evening. President Pritchett gave an account of the advance of the Walker Gymnasium in which the class is very much interested having already contributed $5,500 toward it. The following officers were elected: President, William W. Crosby; Vice-Presidents, G. T. Blood and H. N. Dawes; Secretary and Treasurer, F. H. Fay; Assistant, C. N. Spofford.

Musical Clubs.

The Musical Clubs take a trip to Marblehead this evening, the train leaving North Station at 6.40 p. m., and on April 16th they give a concert at the Technology Club. The annual Wellesley Concert will come this year on Wednesday, April 17th. Manager Hudson has tickets for sale so that Tech men may sit in a body.

Artistic Competition.

The following rules governing the competition for the art editors of Technique 1903, are submitted by the Electrical board:

1. All competitors shall submit to the judges hereinafter named, three original drawings suitable for use in the 1903 Technique.
2. The three original drawings shall be, 1st, a wash drawing; 2d, a pen and ink drawing; 3d, a color drawing in water color or oil. (The color drawing is not to be in flat washes.)
3. All drawings submitted must bear a distinguishing mark to serve as signature, the same mark, with competitor's name to be enclosed in a sealed envelope and handed in with the drawings.
4. The judges of the competition shall be Messrs. I. B. Haselton and Bird.
5. All drawings must be handed in on or before May 10th.

Mining Engineering Society Meeting.

A meeting of the Mining Engineering Society was held last Thursday in Room 2, Rogers. Prof. Richards spoke on the machinery used in ore dressing and also on experiments which he has conducted to determine the rate of settling of different minerals in water. Every point was illustrated by lantern slides. About fifty members were present and were so much interested that Professor Richards has consented to continue the subject at the next meeting of the society.

Mr. King, '03 was elected to membership.

BARNEY—There's no game like hockey; it never grows stale.

BERRY—Why should it? It's always on ice.

Professor Burton Has Arrived.

A cablegram has just been received at the Institute from Professor Burton, who is in charge of the Technology Eclipse Expedition to Sumatra. The cablegram simply stated that the party arrived safely in Sumatra at the port of Padang, and that all well. On the same steamer with Professor Burton was a party from the English Royal Observatory, and a party of Dutch astronomers sent out by the Dutch government. One of the members of the Technology party speaks Dutch fluently, a fact which will be of great assistance in the work after arrival in Sumatra. The party under direction of Professor Burton will go to the high land in the interior, where the conditions for such work will be of the best.

Walker Club Play.

Following its custom of former years the Walker Club of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is to give a play during Junior week, in the midst of Tech's social festivities, and the management announce for the present season the well-known comedy, "A Night Off," by the late Augustin Daly.

The comedy was first produced in 1885 at Daly's Theatre in New York and the cast there included such brilliant talent as Miss May Irwin, Miss Ada Rehan, Mr. James Lewis, Mr. John Drew and Mr. Charles Lecleroq. It was then, and has since been, a great success, and the Tech management have the strongest hopes that this year the results of their efforts will be the same.

The proceeds of the play are to go towards the fund to be used in erecting the Walker Memorial Gymnasium. Two performances of the play are to be given, one in Boston, at Copley Hall, on Monday evening, April 22d, and the other at the Academy of Music, Northampton, on April 26th. The managers of the play for this season are R. B. Lowe, J. L. Gilson and E. L. Upham.

Civil Engineering Society Dinner.

At the United States Hotel last Tuesday evening was held the Fourth Annual Dinner of the Civil Engineering Society. In spite of the inclement weather the attendance was up in the nineties. The former dinners of the Society have been most enjoyable affairs and the one in question certainly added to the reputation of its predecessors. One of the pleasantest features of these gatherings is the meeting and social intercourse between the civil engineering students and the professors and instructors in that department. Last Tuesday evening all of the instructing staff of the Civil Engineering Department, with the exception of Prof. Burton, who is now absent with the eclipse expedition, were present at the dinner.

After disposing of the delicacies offered by the hotel chef, Mr. F. H. Bass, the President of the Society, opened the post-prandial exercises with a few well-timed remarks. Mr. J. T. Scully, as toastmaster of the evening, performed his duties most efficiently. President Pritchett, the first speaker of the evening, gave a most interesting discourse regarding "Engineers in Government Service." President Pritchett expressed the wish that some of the Institute graduates would enter that branch of the Government service. He further stated that the field and remuneration were as large as those offered by average engineering opportunities. Professor Swain responded to the toast, "The Great American Sin." Professor Swain pointed out that in some instances professional men appeared on the surface to be discourteous, while usually this was not in reality the case, still the apparent drawback should be remedied. Mr. Ray Murray gave some excellent advice on "Broadening Influences at Tech." Professor Porter presented several phases of the toast, "The End of the Engineer," and drew some excellent conclusions concerning the same. Professor Allen spoke on "Engineers in New Mexico." He gave some very interesting experiences which he encountered while in that country. Mr. L. R. Thurlow, in a lighter strain, discoursed on "Experiences," all of which were intimately connected with Course I. Mr. Frank P. McKibben showed the "Tech Lunch Room" to be a subject containing food for much discussion. Instrumental music added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. The opinion was unanimous that the fourth annual dinner of the Society was very much of a success.

All Andover men who wish to attend a dinner of the Andover Club will please give their names to Paul E. Chalifoux, '02.

A number of men enjoyed a very pleasant social evening at the meeting last Friday, of those interested in the subject of Christian Science. Mr. E. A. Kimball of Chicago gave an address on what Christian Science should mean to a Tech man.

The Technology Club has sent a circular letter to its members notifying them of the transfer of its property to the Technology Club (Incorporated). Bonds are to be issued of $100 denomination bearing 4 per cent. interest for the purpose of paying for a house at 83 Newbury Street. The change from 71 is to be made on account of the high rental of the latter house.

During the April vacation the Course VI. seniors will accompany Prof. Wm. L. Puffer on a trip to the works of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y. By special courtesy to Technology the party will be allowed two days in which to inspect the works. New York City will then be visited and a day spent in seeing some of the large power houses of New York and Brooklyn. The party leaves Boston Wednesday, April 17th, returning in time for recitations the following Monday morning.

On Friday evening, April 12th, President Pritchett will speak at the Twentieth Century Club on "Needed Reforms in Government Methods."

There will be a meeting of the Southern Club in Room 11, Rogers, Friday, April 12th, at one o'clock. It is absolutely necessary for all members to be present.

The Naval Architectural Society will hold its next dinner Wednesday evening, April 17th. Several interesting papers will be read by members of the society.

The patronesses for the Tech Tea, April 25th, will be Mrs. Pritchett, Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Swain.

The L'Avenir poster and program cover competition closes next Monday.

Application blanks for seats for the Walker Club production of "A Night Off," can be had at the "Cage."

Mr. Margeson has issued another appeal for all men to call at the "Cage" at least once a week for their mail, etc.

Twenty-four extra men are needed for the L'Avenir production of "Les Romanesques" — six violinists, six mandolin players, six duelists, and six negroes. Men wishing to take these parts will please leave their names care of Box 65, "Cage."

All but a very few of the seventy-five and fifty cent seats for the performance of the "Grand Duke" have been sold. The prices of seats for the dress rehearsal are: entire orchestra, one dollar; first balcony, seventy-five cents; second balcony, fifty cents.

Boston Library Lectures.

The Boston Public Library Association has announced a series of free lectures on Municipal administration which will appeal to all students of the Institute. The lectures will be delivered on the following dates at 8 p. m. in the lecture room of the Boston Public Library, Boylston St. entrance.

Monday, April 15 — Mr. X. Henry Goodnough, "The Water Supply of Cities."

Monday, April 22 — Prof. W. T. Sedgwick, "Sanitary Aspects of the Construction and Care of City Streets."

Monday, April 29 — Mr. Geo. G. Crocker, "Transportation in Cities."

Frat vs. Frat.

Oh, the Knight of Skull and Cross-bone,
And the Wampum Skindelee,
And the Seagum, Sacket Scatchum,
All were good society.
But they raised a bad suspicion,
By their brotherly condition,
That the class would reach perdition
If such things were 'lewed to be.'

So they put their heads together—
Did the Anti-Skindeees,
And they turned their hearts to leather
'Gin the bad Fraternities.
And they swore with some reflection,
They would make their own selection—
"At the Techni-Q election,
Not a 'Frat-man' if you please."

It was awful how they slew 'em,
How they slew the Skindeees.
And it's boasted how they roasted
All the bad Fraternities.
But they're quiet in the crowing,
For the fact so plainly showing
That the biggest "Frat" agoing
Is the Anti-Skindeee.

Watt.

The Junior Week Tech will be issued Wednesday the 24th. It will be a most attractive number.

The prospects for an interesting spring meet are excellent; more men are training this year than ever before.

Of last year's Varsity, Baxter and Pope are doing splendid work in the high jump and pole vault and Winchester and MacDonald are putting the shot better than ever before.

An unusually large number of long distance men are out trying for the Varsity this year. There will also be more participants in the jumping events. 1903 men are showing up well in practice.

Mr. Clausen, the Varsity trainer, can be found at the gymnasium every afternoon, after four o'clock. So far forty-two men have handed in their names, as training for the meet. He will be glad to assist both new and old men in any track matters.

The management of the Athletic Association is endeavoring to make arrangements to take the men, training for the meet, to the Riverside Recreation Grounds for practice next Saturday afternoon. A notice giving particulars will be posted.

S. T. Worcester, '04 won the annual cross country run of the athletic Association last Saturday, breaking the record made by Campbell in 1898 by thirty-eight seconds. The run was held over the regular B. A. A. course, with the start and finish at the gymnasium — Worcester's time was 27 minutes, 48 seconds. H. F. Peasley, '03, came in second and Holcomb, '02 was third. All but one of the seven starters finished the run of nearly five miles.

Brookline High, II; 1904, 9.

The Freshman baseball team opened its season with a game against Brookline High School last Saturday and was defeated by a score of eleven to nine. The Freshmen, owing to Smith, the Brookline pitcher, giving ten bases on balls, were ahead until the sixth inning, when Brookline scored five runs and won the game. The most notable feature of the game was '04's inability to hit the ball. If they expect to do anything this year they need batting practice above all else. The score follows:—

THE LOUNGER was accosted the other day by his old friend and collaborator, Mr. Bur-i-on, who with a very serious and portentous mien requested information as to whether there was room in that vile sheet called "YE TECH," for a little story of his own. Now if THE LOUNGER were going to issue a paper like the The Spectator, he would make Mr. Bur-i-on his hero and THE LOUNGER would have no doubt as to whether or not he could give points to anybody, from Roger de Coverly to Eben Holden. But simply being a rank scribbler for THE TECH and even at that getting crowded out by tabulated columns of free advertising matter inserted gratuitously, THE LOUNGER had doubts as to whether Mr. B.'s tale would ever reach the printed form; at any rate he was absolutely certain it would never get beyond this benighted page, and so he is making a valiant attempt to rescue it. Said Mr. B.: "I was coming in on the car the other day and was talking to a Harvard man. Having no Freshmen, a Harvard man was the next best thing, and he remarked that he had a story to tell me about the Institute. 'A class mate of mine who went to Tech, reminding me of those good old days at Cantaberigensis mentioned the manner in which we used to cram for exams over there. 'Well,' said he, 'that's what you have to do every day at Tech.'" Mr. B. took much pains to convince THE LOUNGER that this was a true story, but none were needed. Its veracity is too obvious, and THE LOUNGER, expecting an outburst of that pleasing philosophy with which the Freshmen are refreshed during their agony in attempting to get the right thing projected into H, was surprised that his friend should wish the publication of such a well known fact. Of course THE LOUNGER cannot by experience substantiate the statement, but he is led to believe that its correctness is unimpeachable from various companions of his who are progressing through Tech at a more rapid rate than THE LOUNGER.

* * * *

THE LOUNGER has lain awake for many nights past in the annual dilemma concerning the supply of filthy lucre which will be necessary to assist him through Junior week. Of course she will be here and under such circumstances THE LOUNGER feels that he can afford anything that money can buy. However, the idea that is striving to be free from his brain is that some scheme ought to be devised by which a plan of co-operation could be put into effect between the common people of whom THE LOUNGER is one, and the dramatic stars of the Institute. Thus, by this scheme, a man should be permitted to pay for his tickets to the attractions during the week by work instead of the cold plunks. THE LOUNGER, for one, is perfectly willing to carry water for the Principals, or haul on a scene sheet or black the Business Manager's boots if in return he be given the envied pasteboards. If some such scheme is not followed nothing can prevent the financial, as well as physical, wreck of THE LOUNGER's promising life.

* * * *

THE LOUNGER wishes to announce merely as a matter of form, that if he should happen to appear in inverted order, upside down, on the front page of an issue, or even if he should not happen to appear at all, that it must not be considered as meaning anything serious. THE LOUNGER is guiltless. He has only been so bold as to hire a new proof-reader, and the excitement attendant upon an event at Technology such a thing as an event being a wholly serious and portentous matter, will completely exonerate the matter from responsibility as to some of the philological and literary gymnastics which have met THE LOUNGER's gaze. THE LOUNGER includes in this such little diversions as announcements of meetings of the "Naval Agricultural Society," and so forth.

* * * *

THE LOUNGER wishes to bow in return to the graceful acknowledgement that the editor paid him last week of bowing down and worshipping in that note prefatory to the editorials. It will be noted with pleasure, that THE LOUNGER made up quantitatively, at least, in last week's issue. Doubtless, in that number when THE LOUNGER retired from the field, the editor, that wierd individual of the shears, and glue-pot, found sufficient humor for one paper in labelling "the Naval Architectural Society," the "Naval Agricultural Society." With this sort of wit, THE LOUNGER, cannot, of course, hope to compete. And moreover, if the main part of THE TECH is to be devoted to such hilarity as the prefatory note and notices of the "Naval Agricultural Society," THE LOUNGER sees the day, not far distant, when, excepting by the geographical location of the pre-historic cut above, it will be impossible to tell which part of paper is THE LOUNGER. Having, however, resurrected in THE TECH for "keeps," THE LOUNGER extends the felicities of the season and congratulates the Institute on the nearness to that time when the board coverings of the steps shall be removed, and by edict of the Secretary, spring officially inaugurated.

Week Commencing April 15, 1901.

Hollis Street Theatre.—Mr. Richard Mansfield has made a most successful presentation of "Henry V." The scenes, nineteen in number, are exceptionally elaborate, and there are fifty-two speaking parts in the cast. Everything is done with a finish seldom seen in any play. Next week is Mr. Mansfield's last.

Colonial Theatre.—"Ben Hur" is now in its last two weeks. The spectacular beauties and the wonderful mechanical contrivances continue to call forth admiration from large audiences. Annie Russell in a "Royal Family" is announced for April 22.

Tremont Theatre.—Miss Henrietta Crosman as "Mistress Nell" has proved that she is one of the cleverest and brightest actresses seen in Boston for a long time. The quality of her work is far above the average, and it is needless to say that she will play to crowded houses for the rest of her engagement.

Boston Museum.—Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon in their romantic French drama, "Manon Lescaut," will play for the rest of this week. Next week "Foxy Quiller," with Jerome Sykes as the chief comedian, will be the attraction. This is said to be full of catchy music and funny situations and should not be missed by one in search of a pleasant evening's entertainment.

Castle Square Theatre.—"The Merchant of Venice" has scored such a popular success that it will be continued for another week. It is seldom that such a classic play may be seen at reasonable prices. "Lynwood" is announced as the next attraction.

Boston Theatre.—Grand opera for the rest of this week. Next week Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and M. Coquelin in a repertoire selected from their most famous plays.

Park Theatre.—The Olga Nethersole production of "Sapho."
